What ~ Definitions

Trinity Welfare Commitment (TWC) is an idea of qualifying companies.

A TWC-certification is an instant way of helping a Company to make its employees feel better about working ... and living.

A TWC-certification is focused on head, heart and body (Human Trinity).

The idea includes a cold head, a warm heart, a joyful body and Human Welfare.
Just like Athos, Aramis, Portos and D'Artagnan.

The TWC-certification is not a evaluation of the Employee, but a benchmarking of the Company.

If the company is a good company, it provides its employees with Trinity Welfare, defined as feeling good at head, heart and body.

If a company concerns about Trinity Welfare for its employees, it means Trinity Welfare Commitment.

Trinity Welfare Commitment is basically a web interface, offering each and every of a company's employees three questions each monday morning (work-start) and friday afternoon (work-end).

Trinity Welfare Commitment is also a graphic TWC-status, showing the company's ability to provide Trinity Welfare to its employees.

Why ~ Aims

The Aim of Trinity Welfare Commitment is to Make Bad Business History.
